Who We Are and What We Do

Do you have the need to recover from or overcome something in your life? Christians in Recovery® (CIR) can help! We provide information, referral and resources for anyone in recovery or hoping to recover from abuse, family dysfunction, debt, depression, stress, anxiety, same sex attraction, grief, etc. and/or addictions to drugs, alcohol, sex, food, pornography and more.

You can regain or maintain balance and order in your life by learning about and applying the 12 Steps and Biblical principles. Become better equipped to face the challenges of life, learning from others through mutual sharing of support and encouragement in Christians in Recovery®.

Our vision is not just recovery
but to go well beyond recovery;
to fully discover, explore and magnify
all possibilities God intends for us as individuals.

The Problem

Many do not seek recovery because they are too embarrassed or ashamed while others, who may be successful or prominent in their communities, hesitate to seek help for fear of professional or social repercussions.

Then there are those people living in rural areas where recovery resources are not easily accessible or they reside in countries where recovery resources are limited and Christianity discouraged.

The Solution

Christians in Recovery® provides a discrete, safe haven on the Internet for people with a wide variety of self-defeating behaviors. Through CIR anyone can find non judgmental encouragement, support and the resources they need while protecting their anonymity.

Why is Christians in Recovery Different?

Rich in content, CIR provides a Christian Online Community, helping people to grow spiritually. For anyone seeking recovery from self-defeating behavior it is a treasure trove of information and helpful resources.

- You are in control of your own anonymity.
 - You should not fear exposure because you do not reveal your identity.
 - You access assistance in the privacy of your own home, office, library or school.
 - You seek support and find resources according to your schedule; you decide the pace of your own recovery.
- CIR provides an Online Community where you will share experience, strength and hope with others 24 hours a day, every day of the year.
 - Interactive support is available in the form of 12 Step Bible studies, chat rooms, message boards, meetings, etc.
 - Support is always available.
- CIR catches those who fall through the cracks of traditional recovery ministries, groups and organizations.
 - We provide resource information to recovery professionals and pastors as well as friends and family of dysfunctional people.
 - CIR writes and distributes the only Christian recovery software available. Download FREE self-help software and demos from this site.
